

Pick of the Month – July 2011

Web Pick:

The Assistive Technology Blog

The Assistive Technology Blog is a publication of the Virginia Department of Education's Training and Technical Assistance Center (T/TAC) at VCU. This blog is updated every 1-2 days and provides all kinds of Assistive Technology ideas. You can search for ideas on the blog by category or date, or by entering whatever it is you're looking for. There is also an archive of blog posts dating back 5 years!

To view the blog, please visit <http://www.assistivetechology.vcu.edu/>.