

Pick of the Month – July 2012

AT Pick:

Control Video Games with Your Tongue

From MSN:

“A just-unveiled project by researchers at The University of Electro-Communications near Tokyo will soon have players using their tongues on the Kinect.... It is designed primarily to help train people who have oral motor function disorders that affect their ability to speak or swallow.”

To read the full article, please go to:

<http://www.ingame.msnbc.msn.com/technology/ingame/japan-developing-way-control-games-your-tongue-644297#/technology/ingame/japan-developing-way-control-games-your-tongue-644297>